EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS

EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT CAPABILITIES ASSESSMENTS

Industry recognizes that prevention will always be a priority and that not having an incident is preferable to the alternative. However, if our goal is to mitigate risks to As Low As Reasonably Practicable (ALARP) then logic dictates that if any level of risk exists then we have a potential for incidents to occur. Lessons learned analysis conducted by Dynamic International supports this philosophy. More importantly, our lessons high-light two very significant factors:

1. The degree or magnitude of the escalation is inversely proportional to the level of preparedness/preparation and
2. The speed of escalation is inversely proportional to the timeliness of our response efforts.

In our efforts to remain at the forefront of our peers by providing state-of-the-art, value added services Dynamic International is pleased to offer our suite of Emergency Preparedness services to support companies in their continuous improvement strategy.

To better determine and validate your company's level of Emergency Preparedness we recommend an external 'third party review be conducted by Dynamic International. By doing so, you will get an unbiased look from the outside in on where your organization stands based on industry standards.
